Mentors Needed at Hinesburg Community School

By Ginny Roberts,
Mentor Coordinator

Would you enjoy sitting down with a ten year old friend and playing a card game? Do you have time during the school day to relax with a middle school student who enjoys having someone to talk to about her day? How about throwing a ball to an enthusiastic 12 year old boy? If you find yourself drawn to any of these activities, you may be ready to become a mentor at the Hinesburg Community School

The Connecting Youth Mentor Program at Hinesburg Community School is looking for a few more adults to volunteer as a mentor for a child who would benefit from the friendship of an additional adult in their life. Mentors are paired with a fifth through eighth grader and meet weekly at the school, during the school day. A Mentor Room provides games, crafts and other activities but is mostly a place for a friendship to develop.

The CY Mentor Program is in its seventh year at HCS. Last year over 35 students had mentors, and both adults and kids were enthusiastic about their participation. An end of the year survey found that kids in the program felt better about school, themselves, and truly enjoyed having a mentor.

Adults are provided with training and support by the mentor coordinator. If you are interested, call or email Ginny Roberts for an application and/or more information. You can reach her at groberts@cssu.org or 482-2106.

Your Help is Needed to Keep Our Fourth of July Special

By Frank Twarog, Recreation Department Chair

Quick! Name your favorite Hinesburg event...did you say Fourth of July fireworks? Well, if you did, then you're in for a surprise: Hinesburg needs YOU! After 30 years of volunteering, fundraising, schlepping and lighting them off (ok, maybe that's a stretch, but not by much), our fireworks committee members have put down their lighters and are passing the torch to the next generation of volunteers. There are literally thousands of people who owe a round of applause and their appreciation to Doug and Patty Mead, Roni and Dave Estey and Brad Wainer for many years of the work it takes to put on such a great show on the night of the Fourth. While countless others have stepped in over the years to help with everything from fundraising to security, Doug, Patty, Roni, Dave and Brad comprised the committee that put it all together and kept it going for three decades.

Now it's time to organize a new group. The Fourth seems to have just passed, and we're just beginning a new school year, but Hinesburg's Fourth of July fireworks are a big deal and take months of planning and preparing.

Your town needs your enthusiasm and your get-it-done attitude...

The members of the Recreation Commission invite you to an informational meeting on October 9 to form a new committee not only to organize, fundraise and plan for the fireworks, but to assemble the entire day's activities. The "Fourth of July Committee" will be responsible for organizing the entire day, from the morning parade to the evening fireworks, and everything in between.

Your town needs your enthusiasm and your get-it-done attitude to make 7/4/13 happen, because without you, it'll just be another day on the calendar. Please join us on Tuesday, October 9, at 7:00 p.m. to keep Hinesburg's traditional Fourth of July extravaganza going for the next generation.

To All Who Cared

It's been a year now since Jeana's breast cancer diagnosis. In a few months she hopes to come full circle, and be one of the many survivors who fought this battle with incredible bravery and strength.

The warmest of thank-you's can't begin to express our gratitude for the love and encouragement received from our wonderful family and friends. Also, the special champions at the Shelburne Supermarket and countless people in the community, some we've never even met.

The outpouring of support was far more powerful than any drug and the security of knowing you cared, helped to counteract the fear of cancer. Your concern is the remedy and the anticipation of returning to those who sustained her during this difficult time became a cure in itself.

Throughout her struggle Jeana's smile has remained bright as she faced each new challenge. Although her battle is still not concluded it won't be long before she's back full time serving you once again. It's important that you know your gifts to our daughter are even greater gifts to us, her parents. You have touched our hearts forever.

Thank you,

MaryLou and Moe Thorpe

Hannaford Review – Reopened for Evidence Clarification

After closing the Hannaford supermarket review on July 17, and deliberating on a decision for several weeks, the Development Review Board (DRB) decided to reopen the site plan review in order to get clarification from Hannaford on their proposed Farmers Market easement provision as it pertains to compliance with Hinesburg's Official Map. The Official Map shows that a future community facility (several types of facilities are listed, including a Farmers Market venue) is planned for the subject property, and it requires that the application "accommodate" this facility. Hannaford has proposed an easement area on the property (including undeveloped green space and portions of their parking lot), and easement provisions in an attempt to accommodate a Farmers Market venue. After substantial deliberations, the DRB felt they needed additional information in order to determine whether the proposed easement provisions will in fact accommodate the Official Map. In part, this is based on easement provision discrepancies between the draft legal language submitted, and the applicant's testimony at the May 15 and July 17 hearings.

The hearing was reopened for the September 18 DRB meeting. Once any additional evidence or clarification is provided, the DRB will close the hearing again, and complete its deliberations in order to issue a written decision. We will post the written decision on the Town website when it is finalized. More information can be found at www.hinesburg.org/lot15.

Rural Area Zoning – Next Steps

The Planning Commission (PC) held a public hearing on September 12 to get public feedback on proposed rural area zoning revisions. The bulk of the changes relate to the Zoning Regulations and the Subdivision Regulations, but some related changes are also being made to the Town Plan. I'm writing this ahead of that hearing, so I can't tell you how it turned out or what types of feedback were received. The next step will be for the PC to discuss the public feedback, and whether to make any revisions to the proposal. This discussion will happen at the September 26 PC meeting (7:30 p.m. at the Town Office). Everyone is welcome to attend and listen to the PC conversation. This may take more than one meeting if additional research or work is needed to refine the proposal. Once the PC finalizes the proposal, they will send it on to the Selectboard for review, possibly additional revisions, and at least two more public hearings before any final action. For information about the proposal, see the Town website at www.hinesburg.org/planning/raz.

Wind Damage Blocks Hinesburg Trail Networks

By Jason Reed
Trails Committee Member

Over the past year, Hinesburg Area Recreation Trail users have faced challenging trail conditions as a result of high winds. Isolated wind occurrences have damaged several acres of Hinesburg's forests causing a major impact on trail use. These tracts of high wind left damage in various parts of town including the Hinesburg Town Forest, the Russell Family Trail network, and the Laplatte Headwaters Town Forest.

The obstacles and potential hazards created by these natural events have made it necessary to close trails in some areas. In the Hinesburg Town Forest, signs were posted by the Trails Committee and the Town Forest Committee alerting trail users to the potential dangers following a storm last December, and the trail Nature Boy has been closed indefinitely due to condensed storm damage in that area of the forest. Many other trails were blocked by downed trees, and in other areas unstable trees posed the threat of collapsing, or shedding dangerous limbs.

Chittenden County Forester Keith Thompson has been active in assessing the damage from each of these storms. For Thompson, the assessment is about much more than just reopening trail access. In his role, he has been looking at the health of the timber, both present and future, as well as the impact on wildlife habitat, and potential soil disturbances. Thompson worked closely with forest manager Bill Torrey, who has conducted timber harvests in the Hinesburg Town Forest for over a decade. Efforts to salvage valuable timber, while attempting to help the forest recover from events like this, take time and skill. Untangling the mess of downed trees is dangerous work. Torrey was able to get some wood off to the saw mill, while other trees were cleared to open up the forest's logging and recreation access. In addition to the tree work, Torrey also did some necessary ditching and water bar work to limit future erosion.

This summer, the Laplatte Headwaters Town Forest, off of Gilman Road, was severely damaged. The trail network was clogged with countless trees. Thompson, along with the Vermont Land Trust forester, Dan Kilborn, assessed this damage with their focus on the economic and environmental value of salvaging the downed trees. Here, the other major consideration is the impact on Indiana Bat habitat. Thompson and Kilborn are currently in the depths of working out the cost-benefit of a salvage operation which will require specialized equipment and expertise on the part of the forest manager. Trails Committee member Lenore Budd, and Hinesburg Town Forest Committee member Pat Mainer, set out removing all trail blazes and nails from the downed trees making the operation as safe as possible for the loggers involved, as well as preserving the value of the trees at the saw mill.

Other trail networks within Hinesburg have been affected to varying degrees. The Russell Family Trail network was hit during the spring, but most of the tree damage was limited enough to be cleared by the Trails Committee and volunteers. The Fellowship of the Wheel has been clearing storm debris (Continued on the next page.)

Thanks to the work of Keith Thompson, the Trails Committee and the Hinesburg Town Forest Committee, efforts to keep trails clear and safe continue to move forward. Please be aware of tree hazards and forestry operations as you venture on to the trails this fall. ## Several Hinesburg Rides Updates

By Karla Munson

Update on the 116 Commuter Bus Service

For the first month of service, the combined CCTA and ACTR ridership on the 116 Commuter was 1059 rides. This works out to an impressive 48 average daily boardings for the month split evenly between the ACTR route and the CCTA route. This is great ridership for a new commuter route, and we want to keep working towards improving ridership. The goal is to get the ridership up to 60 daily boardings. With the price of gas steadily increasing, this should be attainable. Just think of how great it is to not worry about traffic—you can sit back and enjoy your morning coffee, read the paper, get work done, etc.—and leave the driving to someone else. Also, taking the bus helps reduce traffic, wear and tear on our roads, and helps lower carbon emissions. Please try riding the bus and add to the ridership on a regular basis. Remember that increased ridership will help us get additional service. Wouldn't it be nice to have a mid-day service?

Thanks to all who have been riding the bus, and to those who haven't ridden yet, please try riding the bus; ride at least one day a week. Don't forget that ten-ride bus passes are available for purchase at Lantman's and the Town Clerk's office.

The Hinesburg Community Resource Center Announces a New Program

The Hinesburg Community Resource Center (HCRC) is happy to announce a new service offered to all Hinesburg residents. A “Special Needs Equipment Lending” service will be added to our existing programs: Friends of Families, Emergency Help, Food Bank, Summer Nutrition Programs, and Hinesburg Rides. At this time, we have canes, walkers (with and without wheels, seats and baskets), a collapsing wheelchair, regular wheelchair, shower chair, portable toilet, crutches, grip bars, and a left foot walking boot available for lending, and supplies are always increasing. If you have equipment you no longer need and would like to donate to us, or if you need equipment, please contact Karla Munson at 482-2778 or email to karlamunson@hinesburgrides.org. Remember HCRC is a 501(c)3 nonprofit organization and donations are tax deductible.

Volunteer Driver Program

We have seen an increase in the number of rides requested, and have lost a couple of volunteer drivers. If you have time in your day to give rides, please let me know. You can set your own schedule, drive as often as you want, or once a month, etc. You meet very interesting people and are fulfilling a need in our community. Please consider doing this. Call Karla Munson at 482-2778 or email to karlamunson@hinesburgrides.org.

By Chief Frank Koss,
Hinesburg Community Police

The following events represent only a sample of the services provided by the Hinesburg Community Police.

Chief's Corner

Twice this month, our officers responded to reports that someone was attempting to get into their houses. In one case, the resident heard the door knob being turned and when they looked out through the curtains, the person was scared off.

I come from a time when you could leave your house unlocked and keys in the vehicle. Coming from California, it has been years since feeling that secure. There are many in Hinesburg that still leave things unlocked and are disappointed when they are the victim of a theft. At this point, the thefts in Hinesburg are, for the most part, crimes of opportunity. A person who will not physically break into a house or a vehicle will steal when he can simply open a door. This is not to say that it may not change in the future but for now, we can take precautions.

The first is to lock your house and vehicles. Even if you are home, it doesn't hurt to keep the doors locked. I have mentioned before to call the police on any suspicious activity. This is particularly true during the daytime, Monday through Friday. Thieves count on people not being home and neighbors are in the best position to notice vehicles that should not be there.

We will continue to provide information through the Record, Front Page Forum and the Hinesburg Town Weekly report on issues that may affect our town residents.

Warrant Arrest

On August 8, the Hinesburg Community Police received a phone tip regarding a Hinesburg resident who had a warrant out for his arrest. Eric St. Cyr, age 27, was located and arrested for the outstanding warrant.

Arrest for Assault

On August 12, officers responded to Hawk Lane for an assault that had taken place. Dustin Burbo-Shultz, age 18, was taken into custody and lodged at the Chittenden County Correctional Center.

Family Fight

On August 20 at 12:30 a.m., officers responded to the village area for a family fight. It subsequently turned out to be an altercation between a female, who was temporarily staying at the apartment, and the resident. The parties were separated and there were no more problems.

Possible Suicide Attempt

On August 22 at 1:30 a.m., Hinesburg Police and Hinesburg Response responded to the village for a 17 year old male who had possibly taken an overdose of pills. The juvenile was treated at the scene and transported to Fletcher Allen.

September 25, 6:00 p.m. at the Carpenter Carse Library story hour will feature a real life firefighter! Wear your favorite pj's and bring mom and dad for a fun night.

Practice Fire Safety

When we visit Hinesburg Community School, we teach the children fire safety - what to do in an emergency, when to call 911, what to tell the operator, "Stop Drop and Roll," practice fire drills, have a family meeting place once outside, know two ways out.

Here are some ways you can help us reinforce our discussions and help us work together to keep our children and families safe:

- Always be sure to call 911 in an emergency. Don't hesitate to call because you think you can put the fire out yourself.
- Whenever possible, call from a landline. Vermont uses Enhanced 911. When a call is received from a landline, the system brings up the address, cross street and other information. This enables the operator to dispatch emergency services, even if you are injured and unable to easily communicate.
- Don't hang up on the operator. Even after we are dispatched, they obtain additional information. How many people are home? Is every one out? Is anyone injured?
- If you cannot take the landline outside with you, call them back from your cell phone. As the operator obtains information from the caller, they update us during our response. This information tells us the extent of the emergency and allows us to request mutual aid companies as soon as possible. We would rather call for mutual aid and have more help coming than we may need. The additional resources can always be cancelled.
- When we discuss two ways out, many children state their bedroom is on the second floor. They know about going out the door and down the hall, IF it is safe. And they also know about going to a window if they cannot. But then what? Do they go out the window? While some say they can climb onto a roof outside their window, most cannot. We teach them to make sure they keep the door to the room closed, to stay close to the floor and near the window, and to keep looking out. When they hear us calling "Fire Department! Is anyone home?" their response should be "I am in here" or "Over here." If they can see out the window, they are to wave and yell "Here I am!" We teach them not to hide in closets or under beds, and not to be afraid of us when we come in with our equipment and air tanks and air masks sounding like Darth Vader.
- What else can we all practice to be safe? Make sure you change the batteries in your smoke/fire detectors in November and March when we change the clocks. Periodically test them. Test your CO detector monthly. Change the battery when you change the batteries in your other detectors. Check the manufacture date. CO detectors should be replaced after five to six years. Even if the alarm has never sounded, dust and some CO will build up inside.

Let's ALL practice safety. Should you ever need us, don't hesitate to call, we are here to help.

The Durango

In recent weeks I'm sure many have seen our new Ford F-350 First Response vehicle and were wondering why the Durango is still outside the station. Here is some background information about why it is still there.

The Durango was purchased in 2002 for around $22,000 by the Fireman's Association for use as a first response vehicle. In July the Department voted 17 to one to keep the vehicle until the end of October to see if it would serve as a good utility vehicle for the department without having to purchase something new. We currently do not reimburse members for using their own vehicles for running department errands, in or out of town, attending trainings out of town or other official department business.

We have in our capital budget and strategic plan to purchase a utility vehicle and feel this is a good vehicle for this purpose and is giving us a chance to realize the uses of the vehicle without purchasing one or to decide having one isn't warranted. When we proposed purchasing the F-350 response vehicle the main reason for replacing the Durango was the equipment was overloading the half ton Durango chassis and did not give us adequate space for new equipment that was needed.

Another use for the Durango is, as we collaborate and work more closely with our surrounding mutual aid departments, many times the most pressing need is for manpower, not equipment. By utilizing the Durango we are able to put one less piece of expensive equipment on the road and out of town when it is only acting as a taxi. Many towns purchase more costly custom, six- or eight-man cabs for carrying personnel; we believe in buying less costly commercial chassis but that does mean more personal vehicles are being used or a utility vehicle is needed. Many towns now have a policy that no personal vehicles go to fire scenes during mutual aid requests. It is hard to have them respect our requests if we don't respect theirs.

Station Expansion

As I'm sure many have read, we are continuing planning efforts around the station expansion. In July the Department members voted 17 to three to continue pursuing the expansion of our station to accommodate our current equipment and training needs as well as trying to keep an eye on our future needs.

Many people have focused on the fact that our population has supposedly only grown by 50 in the past ten years but there have been 200 building permits issued. For the moment let's set aside the population question and focus on the buildings and services, something very tangible we can see - Creekside, Kinney Drugs, NRG, Thistlehill, Green Street, fire and redevelopment of Saputo property, Vermont Gas, the second largest High School complex in Vermont to name some of the big ones.

All Fire Departments subscribe to the creed of "Protect Life, Property and Environment." Up until these big projects were built and events happened I felt confident that we were on top of dealing with almost any issues that could arise. I was not correct. With the Saputo fire, while having excellent preplans, great mutual aid relationships and training via exercises, we were not equipped properly and as a result injured a firefighter seriously, something many of us will not ever overcome, including the scars and limitations he will bear for life.

New Designs are Not Better for Firefighters

New construction techniques have put us behind in our ability to deal with fire in these premises. As a result all new public and commercial buildings are now required to carry a placard that warns fire departments of this type construction, which rapidly fails when exposed to fire. To understand this more go to youtube.com/watch?v=IlyZx8uIMh0&feature=g-vrec. Nearly all new construction is built using light weight designs which are a huge danger for our firefighters and a tremendous liability exposure to the town via the town's Workers Comp policy covering the Fire Department.

If we are ill-prepared and ill-equipped it will fall directly on the taxpayers' shoulders when the lawsuits start flying—which seems to be the norm now where injuries to the public and/or firefighters occur. This is not meant to be a scare tactic but a reality check. Do some Internet research.

We are working diligently to come up with an affordable plan that will accommodate our current needs and be affordable while also providing the town the protection it needs and is expected by its residents. Much more to come and I hope you can bring yourself, in the name of safety and caring for other residents, to support our next plan when we bring it forward for a vote. Please contact me if you have any questions, comments or concerns.

As a footnote to great forethought and planning, in 1972, when the current station was built, we had two trucks and moved into a station built for six.

Dwell Properties & Contracting

By Jean Isham, HBPA

At a very young age Dana Bingham, originally of Ipswich, Massachusetts, started spending summers in Vermont with her grandmother, the late Chittenden County Senator Jean Ankeney of St. George. In eighth grade she moved to Vermont to live with her grandmother on her farm and continue to show horses, an endeavor supported by her family. She graduated from Champlain Valley Union High School in 2005 and the University of Vermont (UVM) Business School, cum laude, in 2009. She is currently pursuing a Masters in Business Administration. When her grandmother passed away in the spring of 2005, Dana convinced her parents that she could take care of the farm and they decided to keep it in the family.

She met Patrick Biddiscombe, a fellow student in UVM's Business School, in May of 2007. Patrick graduated from UVM in 2008 and is currently pursuing a Masters in Business Administration. Dana and Patrick started working on projects at the farm and quickly realized it was challenging to find reliable people to take care of work that they could not do themselves. Corey Kennedy, a Rutland native and childhood friend of Patrick's, was a talented contractor in the Rutland area and would come up to help with the renovations. The three realized that the contracting business model was broken and outdated. The premise for Dwell Properties &

Their first employee was hired in May of 2012 and the company continues to grow every day. Currently they have four employees and they are always seeking dedicated, reliable applicants.

During high school Corey began working as an independent painting contractor, carpenter and property manager. He gained carpentry and renovation skills from other local professionals. He spent years working with Lenny Burke, a builder in Mendon, Vermont. Corey has been involved in contracting for a little over ten years, during which (Continued on the next page.)

time he spent seven years as part of the management team at Home Depot in Rutland. His biggest focus within retail was his passion for providing excellent service to customers. Corey also has experience in the designing and drafting of plans for homes.

Dwell's main focus is to apply a different model to their business, to find a different way of offering home services to their clients. Their primary focus is on customer service. Patrick explains that, "we are proactive in communicating with our clients. We offer project schedules and budgets that we adhere to. We are ready to change the industry and offer the quality and professional contracting that the market wants." Dwell will undertake many different interior remodeling and renovation jobs. No job is too small.

By utilizing new technologies the team is able to take their customer service oriented approach to the next level. They strive to communicate with customers in whatever form works best for the customer which can include email, text messaging, phone calls and direct face to face communication. Clients can even follow Dwell Properties & Contracting on Facebook to find out more about past and present jobs and their involvement with various community service projects. Patrick explains that they will soon be accepting credit card payments and providing iPads to their staff to handle timely client communications and onsite estimating.

To demonstrate their gratitude, at the close of each project clients are presented a gift that highlights a local Vermont product. Currently that product is a quart of maple syrup from the Isham Family Farm in Williston. The team says that it is a great way to make their customers aware of, and to support, other small businesses.

One of the company's goals is to grow the firm to a size which will allow them to offer services to all of Northern Vermont. They strive to someday have 40-50 employees which will enable them to provide quality jobs and keep talented young people in the state.

The team strives to be involved within their community as much as possible. Dana is the St. George representative on the Lake Iroquois Recreation District. All three are trustees of the St. George Historic and Conservation Trust which is currently heading up the renovation and move of the St. George Little Red Schoolhouse. Patrick was one of the original founders of the Vermont Young Professional Group, an active networking group within Chittenden County.

Brown Dog Books & Gifts Receives "Community Gem" Award

By Jean Isham, HBPA

On June 28 the Vermont Retail Association announced its 2011-2012 retailer of the year awards. Hinesburg's own Brown Dog Books & Gifts was the recipient of the "Community Gem" award.

On hand to present the awards were Vermont Retail Association's Executive Director Tasha Wallis, Governor Peter Shumlin and Lieutenant Governor Phil Scott. Governor Shumlin noted "About one in five Vermonters works in retail. But numbers are only part of this story...their unique presence is a quintessential part of Vermont's character and mystique." Lieutenant Governor Scott reinforced this view with his statement that "As a business person myself, I know that it's impossible to overstate the importance of our retail industry to Vermont's economic health. I'm pleased to join the Governor, and Executive Director Wallis, in congratulating these exemplary businesses."

Brown Dog Books & Gifts is the ideal representative of a "Community Gem." In the process of reaching this distinction, owner Natacha Liuzzi brought a lifelong dream of owning a book and gift store in her hometown to a reality. In addition to a great selection of books and easy ordering for any not in stock, this store offers products and crafts from more than 150 local vendors and handcrafters. Being a "Community Gem" also represents Natacha and Brown Dog Books & Gifts involvement in the community. The store hosts high school skills programs, music nights for local musicians, offers free space for discussion groups and hosts a wide variety of author events as well as contributing financially to many local endeavors. A community member commented "Hinesburg is really lucky to have Brown Dog Books & Gifts," a sentiment often expressed in this and neighboring communities.

Congratulations to Brown Dog Books & Gifts and to the other winners, Sam's Outdoor Outfitters of Brattleboro named Retailer of the Year and Green Life of Burlington named

Vermont Retail Association President Marc Sherman, Lieutenant Governor Phil Scott, Natacha Liuzzi and Emma Liuzzi Pouech

Greentailer of the Year.

When we support our local retailers, we are also supporting our local communities.

Thanks from the Recreation Commission

By Tom Giroux

The Hinesburg Recreation Commission wants to thank a few additional people publicly for their help during the July 4 celebration and for the 2012 "Concerts in the Park" season.

Thanks to David Eddy and his family and friends for coming back and putting on the very successful Hilly Hobble Run on July 3.

Thanks go out to Tailhook Towing for displaying the large American Flag at the entrance into town.

Thanks also to Tyler Wainer and Dark Star Lighting for the sound system, which plays a key role in our exciting fireworks display.

The "Concerts in the Park" owe a super big THANK YOU to Hart & Mead, for again sponsoring these events, and it was great seeing Johnny recovering so well.

This year Lantman's Market gave out free popcorn and sold water. Thank you Brian Busier, Georgina Gelineau, Katlyn Landry and Marci Place.

Also, THANKS go out to Ray and Neil's (Beaudry) Hotdog stand, and Sugar Momma's cupcakes (Jessica Guilemette and Chelsea Place) for giving spectators some food options while they enjoyed the music.

Thank you June Giroux, for use of your golf cart, which was essential for judges at the July 4 parade on Buck Hill Road, and was a valuable help at the concerts, for aiding the elderly and others, from the parking lot to the music site, and of course, the children looked forward to their rides.

Also thank you to John Stork, the street performer, who came twice to put on half time shows that people are still talking about.

And while we're thanking, let's not forget Rocky Martin and Greg Lyman for all their extra work in trying to get the grass to grow, without any rain this summer, on our Town Hall field.

If you haven’t visited the library to see Nini Crane’s paintings, you still can through September 29 in Carpenter-Carse Library Community Room. She primarily paints watercolors but enjoys painting oils, pastels and acrylics. Nini is inspired by the beauty all around her and loves painting Vermont scenes, flowers and the beauty she sees in all four seasons. She has exhibited her works at many local venues, including the Mary Bryant Gallery and The Old Mill in Jericho. Do stop by during the Library’s regular open hours to enjoy Nini’s lovely works of art.

Support Hinesburg Community School with No Extra Cost to You!

By Kim Gordon,
Hinesburg Partnership in Education (P.I.E)

There are a number of ways to support HCS without additional monetary cost to you including:

Box Tops for Education

They really add up! Last year we had over $1,250 submitted—with your help hopefully we can double that number this year! What to do:

1. Clip Box Tops off of participating products and bring to a drop off location (HCS Main Office, Lantman's or Kinney Drug).

2. Log in on-line for special promotions, play games for extra Box Tops or log-in and shop through the site to earn points. HCS can redeem for cash.

To learn more and see a list of participating products (you may be surprised to see how many products are on the list!), visit <http://www.boxtops4education.com>.

Campbells Labels for Education

Last year we had hundreds submitted! With your help hopefully we can double that number, too... What to do:

1. Clip Campbells Labels for Education (UPCs—caps for certain products—see website) off of participating products and bring to a drop off location (HCS Main Office, Lantman's or Kinney Drug).

2. Go on-line and register your store cards (Shaws and Price Chopper are listed) and earn points when you shop and buy participating products just by swiping your card at checkout (you can still clip the UPC or save the caps and turn them in for more points). HCS can redeem for school supplies.

3. You may also log in on-line as they frequently have on-line offers.

To learn more and see a list of participating products, visit <http://www.labelsforeducation.com/> and <http://www.elabelsforeducation.com>.

Price Chopper "Tools for School"

What to do for Price Chopper Shoppers:

Price Chopper will give out $500,000 in equipment to schools based on the percentage of points a school has earned. Earn points by shopping with your Advantage Card. You need to register your card for the current year at the store or on-line and select HCS. The current promotion ends March 30, 2013. To learn more, visit <http://www2.pricechopper.com/toolsforschools>.

OneCause

Shop on-line at hundreds of well-known merchants after you join (and select HCS) and OneCause will contribute a percentage of the money you spend back to HCS. <http://www.onecause.com>.

If you are aware of other similar programs, please contact the Hinesburg Partnership in Education (P.I.E) group so we can spread the word!

HCS – Feeding the Whole Child

By Andrea Francis, Wellness Initiative Team

According to the Center for Disease Control, approximately one third of children and adolescents in the United States are either overweight or obese. In response to this alarming statistic, the USDA has made the first major changes in 15 years to the nutrition guidelines for school meals. School cafeterias are now required to serve more fruits and vegetables, more whole grains, lower sodium content, offer nonfat or low fat milk, and offer sufficient calories. The new lunch guidelines were implemented this June. The breakfast guidelines will be in effect next July.

Hinesburg Community School (HCS), in anticipation of these changes, has already made great progress implementing the guidelines. For example, previously whole grains were "encouraged." Starting this July, at least half of the grains must be whole grain-rich and by July 2014, all grains must be whole grain-rich. HCS serves only whole grain with one exception—our pasta—and, with further taste testings, this change is soon to come.

The issues facing schools are daunting: initiating changes to the menu in a tasty manner; controlling costs that are predicted to increase as the cost involved with quality, healthy food increase; increasing student participation to aid in cost control. HCS' Wellness Initiative Team (formerly the Nutrition Improvement Team) applied to be included in the Green Mountain Healthy Kids Challenge Nutrition Education Institute to help us better understand and implement the mandatory changes. Fortunately, along with nine other Vermont schools, we were accepted.

The program is designed to provide in-depth training in food and nutrition education to combat rising rates of obesity and diet-related illness among children. HCS' inclusion in this program is recognition of our healthy food service program, efforts of our parent, staff and community group to increase awareness of nutrition, and our community garden.

In June, members of the Wellness Initiative Team—Bob Goudreau (Principal), Deb Bissonette (Food Service Director), Kelli Brown (parent), Andrea Francis (parent), Maureen Locker (Family and Consumer Science teacher), and Shelley

Torrey (School Nurse)—attended the Summer Conference for the Nutrition Education Institute. The team has now been paired with a facilitator who will work with the team throughout the 2012-2013 school-year. The goal of the team is to build a community environment around the idea of "Feeding the Whole Child."

We will apply for the Healthier US School Challenge put forth by the USDA in June of 2013. There is currently only one school in Vermont which has been awarded by the Healthier US School Challenge. The changes you will see this fall include students being offered more fresh fruits, vegetables and legumes. We will be promoting a learning environment of health involving not only nutrition but physical activity.

This healthy environment will be created through the collaborative efforts of our food service department, our physical education department, our classrooms, our students, our families and our greater community.

The Wellness Team cannot do this alone. Promoting healthier children involves changing unhealthy habits. Change can be difficult, but the rewards are great and long-lasting. If you would like to be on the Wellness Initiative Team please contact the school. We will keep you posted of our efforts and ways that you might be able to help. Until then, enjoy the last bits of summer!

The HCS garden is an important symbol of our efforts to increase students' nutritional awareness.

Its veggies also taste really good!

Blood Drive a Success

By Carol King

Hinesburg Community you are awesome! The Red Cross has had a critical need for blood and Hinesburg responded in record numbers to the recent Blood Drive at St Jude's. Hinesburg tied the record for donations. There were 120 donors that came and 112 units of blood were collected. Among the first to donate and a double red donor was Andrew Driver - pictured with daughter Elizabeth who watched the preparations.
 "Double Red cell donation is similar to whole blood donation except a special machine is used to allow you to safely donate two units of red blood cells during one donation while returning your plasma and platelets to you. Red Blood Cells are the most frequently used blood component and are needed by almost every type of patient requiring a transfusion." This information is from the Red Cross web site. If you would like more information go to www.redcrossblood.org
 As well as donors, there were several workers at the Blood drive, many good cooks who prepared delicious foods for the donors and local businesses helped by posting notices of the big day. Thank you to all who participated in any way. Each of you made a difference. On behalf of the Red Cross and those who will benefit from the donations, you are much appreciated.

Elizabeth watches her father, Andrew Driver, getting ready to give blood.

Walk to Defeat ALS

By Jackie Heltz

The ALS Association Northern New England Chapter is sponsoring their annual walk to Defeat ALS on September 23. The 5k walk will take place at Dorset Street Park. Registration starts at 10:30 a.m. and the walk kicks off at 11:30 a.m. There will be an emcee, music, food, warm-ups led by the Burlington Boot Campers, a silent auction, Stormy the Ice Storm mascot, and more. New to the weekend of spreading awareness and raising funds for research and patient services is the Spartan Race in Killington on Saturday. Here competitors will test their endurance and raise money for the cause.

ALS, commonly referred to as Lou Gehrig's disease, can strike anyone and claims one life every 90 minutes. ALS is a terminal, neurodegenerative disease which attacks cells in the brain and spinal cord leading to loss of motor function, paralysis, and eventually death within an average of two to five years post diagnosis. Today there is no known cause, cure, or effective treatment but with your help there is hope for tomorrow.

For more information, to register, volunteer for, or to sponsor the Walk to Defeat ALS, please contact Fundraising and Community Relations Director Amy Coyne at: 603-969-3004/acoyn@alsanne.org, or local Walk committee member Deb Wehrin in South Burlington at: 862-0389 / dwehrlin@yahoo.com or visit www.walktodefeatals.org.

Hunting Information

Submitted by the Vermont Fish and Wildlife Department

Hunter Education Classes Available Now

It’s back to school season... for would-be hunters. With most hunting seasons already started or just around the corner, the Vermont Fish and Wildlife Department is urging new hunters to sign up now for a hunter education course. All first-time hunting license holders are required to complete hunter education.

“Classes are held throughout the year, but their numbers peak now through early fall,” said Hunter Education Coordinator Chris Saunders. “So this is the time to sign up and complete a course, because once hunting seasons begin our volunteer instructors want to be out in the field. Don’t miss out.”

The easiest way to find an open class is by going to http://www.vtfishandwildlife.com/HE\_Courses.cfm. The list is updated frequently, so check often. You can also call the hunter education office at (802) 241-3720.

Vermont’s hunter education course averages 12-14 hours of classroom instruction and field exercises, including live-fire. Each course is taught by trained, certified volunteer instructors who follow national guidelines and state standards. Safe firearms handling, hunter responsibility, conservation, wildlife identification, outdoor safety, turkey hunting, muzzle-loading and survival are all covered.

The department recognizes that courses can be difficult to fit into the hectic schedules of today’s fast-moving lifestyles. As a result, a home-study option is available for the basic hunter education course. Whether online or completing a workbook, this great opportunity lets you learn the material at your own pace. A field day, involving a written exam and field skills testing, is still required.

Vermont Moose Hunt Auction Nets over $22,000 for Wildlife Education

Vermont's sixth annual auction of five moose hunting permits closed on August 21, with $22,094 taken in to help fund Fish and Wildlife Department educational programs, such as the Green Mountain Conservation Camps for 12 to 16 year old youths. Bids do not include the cost of a hunting license ($22 for residents and $100 for nonresidents) and a moose hunting permit fee ($100 for residents and $350 for nonresidents).

Auction winners were as follows:

David Wood, New York, $5,101
Robert Ashton, New Hampshire, $4,687
Peggy Davis, New Hampshire, $4,500
Michael Barry, Vermont, $4,033
Ashlee Leone, Vermont, $3,773

Winning bids in Vermont's moose hunt permit auction are typically lower than in the auctions in neighboring states. Also, winning bidders can choose to hunt in any one of Vermont's Wildlife Management Units open for moose hunting.

The Fish and Wildlife Department held a lottery on August 2, when 385 moose hunting permit winners were drawn from the more than 11,000 people who applied.

Hunters are expected to take more than 200 moose during Vermont's moose hunting seasons. Archery moose season is October 1-7. Regular moose season is October 20-25. Wildlife biologists estimate Vermont has 3,000 moose statewide.

"Our management goal is to keep Vermont's moose herd in balance with available habitat," said Cedric Alexander, Vermont's lead biologist on moose. "Carefully constructed hunting regulations enable us to enjoy having moose in Vermont on a sustainable basis, while their numbers are maintained at levels that fit habitat capacity and the needs of people."

Vermont Bear Season is Underway

Vermont's bear hunting season started September 1 and runs through November 14 this year. Vermont's bear population is now estimated at slightly more than 6,000 black bears. The number of bears has increased during the last two decades and is now higher than the objective of 4,500-6,000 bears listed in Vermont's Big Game Management Plan for 2010-2020.

"Twenty-five years ago Vermont's bear population was less than 3,000, and bears existed primarily in the mountains and in the Northeastern quarter of the state," said wildlife biologist Forrest Hammond. "Through changes in hunting regulations identified in the previous Big Game Management Plan, we successfully encouraged bears to increase in number and expand into towns where their numbers were low. But now we are seeing more incidents of bears doing damage, primarily where they are attracted to foods such as bird seed, pet food left outside, garbage containers, bee hives, chicken coops, barbecues, livestock, and field corn.

"Carefully regulated hunting plays a very important role in wildlife management by helping to control the growth of the black bear population and allow for the sustainable utilization of black bears for food and other purposes," said Hammond. "We will continue to closely monitor the success of bear hunters this fall and plan to recommend regulation changes that will result in slightly more bears being taken in future years."

Although wearing fluorescent orange clothing is not mandatory for hunting in Vermont, hunters and others are urged to wear a fluorescent orange vest and hat while in the woods. Anyone hunting deer during archery season, waterfowl or turkeys will normally wear camouflage clothing.

Hammond reminds hunters that they are required to collect a small pre-molar tooth from each harvested bear, because, he stressed, "The collection of a premolar tooth from every bear reported is critical to the bear project.

"The tooth is actually quite small and easy to loosen with a knife," he added. "Directions for removing the tooth are on the back of the envelope provided by the check station. We are able to age the bear and gain essential knowledge about the status of Vermont's bear population."

Hunters took 396 bears last year in Vermont. A report listing the number of bears taken in each town during the 2011 bear season is available on Vermont Fish and Wildlife's website at (vtfishandwildlife.com). Click on "Hunting and Trapping" and then "Big Game."

HINESBURG BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL ASSOCIATION OFFERS
FREE JOB SEARCH AND POSTING SERVICE

By Jean Isham, HBPA

The Hinesburg Business and Professional Association (HBPA) has added to its web site space for area businesses to post employment openings and for area residents to post requests and/or resumes when seeking jobs. The service is free of charge to members and non-members. The Association encourages area businesses and job seekers to use the site. Expanded usage will enhance the value of the site to the community.

To access this service simply go to the HBPA web site, hinesburgbusiness.com, and click on the appropriate option: Seek A Job; Post A Job; Search Resumes; Post Resume. We think you will find the application easy to use. If you do not have ready access to a computer, access may be available through your local library.

If you have any questions about this site or its use, contact Robert Stahl at bstahl2@gmail.com or at 482-3137.
